

TRIBAL COMMUNITY ALERT SYSTEM
Office of Emergency Management & Safety

The Squaxin Island Tribe Office of Emergency Management & Safety is creating a Community Alert System, which will consist of several communication tools. The primary tool is called “Flash Alert” Newswire. It is an Internet and Cell Phone message system that can provide critical information to members; weather alerts, road and storm conditions, and community service information.

Messages can be provided in two formats, email, text messaging, or both email and text messaging. To become a member of this system will require you to complete the application located on the Squaxin island Tribal Website under the Emergency Management Tab. The information provided on the application is for enrollment in this system only.

Once you have completed the application it can be returned to the receptionist at the Tribal Center, the Tribal Police Station, or the Emergency Operations Center. Those who have questions, please contact (360) 432-3947 with any questions.

SUBJECT: Community Member Flash Alert

Flash Alert is a website that distributes emergency information from different Counties, States and even Schools.

Flash Alert not only sends you emergency information to your email address but it can also be sent to your cell phone, but you would need to be willing to give us your permission to place your cell phone on your account once we have registered you to be able to receive text messages. The reason we ask for cell phone numbers to register in the Flash Alert is there are times you will not have power to check your email but you will be able to receive a Flash Alert text message.

We here at Squaxin Island Tribe Emergency Operation Center would like to involve Tribal Members by getting them registered to receive our Flash Alerts that we post on the website.

Once we have set you up with Flash Alert we will give you your information on how to access this website and you can go and change your password to what ever you like, and add different Counties and States as well as adding your local Schools.
